

Prejudiced questions and myths about homeschoolers' families

- ❖ 1. Can I teach everything the child should learn?
 - a. We are not teachers, but knowledge is not exclusive to professionals. The wheel is already invented. There are many resources, skills guides that show the topics suggested by subject and grade.
- ❖ 2. How do I certify my work?
 - a. You don't have to certify degrees or grades, you must focus on the domain of skills. If they return to the traditional system, they will be responsible for letting them know the requirements and mechanisms accepted by the institution to re-enter the system.
- ❖ 3. Who is supervising me?
 - a. Homeschoolers do not need government oversight or supervision of no institution. We're not regulated.
- ❖ 4. How do they socialize?
 - a. Socialization is a topic that concerns many even more than the academic factor.
