

Should Homeschoolers Be Supervised?

- ❖ The assumption that a certified teacher must supervise parents implies that there is only one way to educate children, and that certified teachers are the only ones who know it.
- ❖ The reality of home education is very different from the institutional environment of a regular school so teaching methods are different and not comparable.