

Support Groups

Search and share with a support group

❖ It is not mandatory to belong, but if it is highly recommended and healthy for both children and parents.

❖ It is important and satisfying to be able to share with families who practice our lifestyle and where you will find help when you need it.

❖ Activities such as tours, workshops, science fair, Spelling, Achievement Day, etc.

❖ Each support group is autonomous, arising from the motivation, vision and yearning of the heart of the founder to help educative families at home. Because each group is and operates differently, it does not carry out the same activities and reserves the right of admission.

❖ Groups may have in their description the affinity to philosophy or approaches, regulation, participation requirements, membership costs, etc.

❖ You can make it your business to visit some groups before taking the final decision.

There are online support groups but they only nurture the parents who have access, children do not benefit from that interaction. If you don't know or have a group nearby at TCHERs, we guide them on how to form a support group.
